

Montana Food Economy Initiative

December 2020 - May 2021

Create a community food system designed to feed your community with a Montana Food Economy Initiative (MFEI) project. Bring folks from across your community food system sectors into partnerships that have the power to create food systems that serve all Montanans better. Join the MFEI to experience the benefits of diversity, and lead Montana communities to more equitable and resilient food systems.

Community Food System Assessment

With support from an MFEI mentor, assess your community food system's assets and prioritize projects to bring sustainable, nutrient-dense food to your whole community.

- All sessions will be held on Zoom. We will rely on you to be present in the remote format.
- We anticipate a commitment of approximately 20 hours (in and out of meetings) from December 2020 - May 2021.
- Members of the community coalition attend meetings, contribute to the mission, vision, and values and definition of the project's success, participate in research and collection of local knowledge to complete the community food system snapshot assessment, and complete action steps between meetings.
- MFEI Mentors will facilitate meetings and the community food system assessment processes over five months. Mentors will be available to teams, responding to questions within 48 hours.
